To Whom It May Concern:

Letter of Recommendation for Mr.Samuel Lee Si En

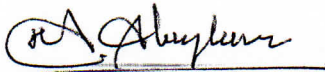

Mr.Samuel was an intern at Hitachi Asia Ltd, from 11 July 2016 to 27 January 2017. During his internship, he was a part of the Big Data Solutions Group within the Research & Development Center. My main interaction with Mr.Samuel has been as his supervisor.

A technically proficient business analyst, Mr.Samuel has shown the ability to pick up technical and data analytics skills on his own. While working in our laboratory to develop a video analytics engine, he had to pick up new software frameworks, programming methodologies and develop machine learning algorithms on his own. Throughout his internship at Hitachi, Mr.Samuel has displayed an exceptional level of maturity, professionalism and technical capabilities for a person his age.

Mr.Samuel is responsible, dependable and has displayed good time management. He is able to produce quality work in a short period of time. He also works well independently and in teams, which is essential in any dynamic working environment. It was a pleasure to work with him and I would like to thank him for his contribution at Hitachi Asia Ltd.

I am delighted to recommend Mr.Samuel, as he would be an asset to any organization. For any further information, please feel free to contact me by mean of email at haabeykoon@has.hitachi.com.sg.

Yours sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern

Letter of Recommendation for Mr. Samuel Lee Si En

Samuel was an intern at Care Corner Project StART for two stints, from 3 June 2019 to 31 July 2019 and 21 April 2020 to 31 July 2020. My main interaction with Samuel has been as his supervisor.

During his first stint Samuel was involved in compiling, cleaning and optimising the data in preparation for our centre's audit. His excellent use of excel and resourcefulness to find solutions made our data compilation process more efficient and provided significant support to the data preparation and organising process. Samuel displayed a high level of maturity, technical capabilities and was a good team player. The team was truly sad to see his internship end, as he was also able to help assist and support the team wherever he could.

During his second internship, Samuel was involved in data preparation and cleaning for our centre's migration to a new cloud case management system. His prior knowledge of our data structure would prove useful in helping to structure existing data to be imported into the new system.

Samuel is responsible, dependable and will go the extra mile to research and solve a problem. He is able to grasp concepts easily and is able to deliver beyond expectations. He is able to work well both independently and in teams. He is also open to feedback and is able to clarify his doubts to gain a clearer understanding.

I would strongly recommend Samuel as he would be an invaluable contributor to any organisation. For more information, I may be contacted via email at hanselkwang@carecorner.org.sg.

Yours sincerely,
